Miss Coplon, Russian U. N. Aide Indicted

NEW YORK, March 10—(AP)—A federal grand jury today returned a four-count espionage indictment against Judith Coplon, Department of Justice analyst, and Valentin A. Gubitchev, Russian engineer employed by the United Nations.

One count said Miss Coplon delivered to Gubitchev "information relating to the national defense, to wit, documents, writings and notes containing intelligence reports relating to espionage and counter-espionage activities in the United States."

The two were arrested here last Friday night after FBI agents had trailed them through Manhattan streets.

Gubitchev was suspended from his U. N. post Saturday.

Miss Coplon and Gubitchev conspired between themselves and with other persons unknown to defraud the United States by obstructing the functions of the Justice department and FBI and by depriving the government of the "honest, conscientious and faithful services" of Miss Coplon.

Miss Coplon unlawfully possessed documents containing intelligence reports relating to national defense and that she gave such documents to the Russian.

Gubitchev unlawfully attempted to obtain from Miss Coplon reports relating to espionage and counter-espionage activities in the United States.

BATTERED OLEO BILL IN HOUSE

Saved By the Bell In Yesterday's Shuffle, Faces Troubles

BY REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, March 10—(AP)—Saved by the bell yesterday, the battered oleo bill steps another bewildering round in the house of representatives today.

The battle is to decide whether it goes to a friendly labor committee or a supposedly hostile agriculture group for hearings.

The initiated measure to permit manufacture and sale of colored oleo in Ohio got into the house fight with the butter bloc far ahead of schedule.

It was due for a respite after the senate picked it up off the floor from a near knockout and passed the bill last Monday night.

The house reference committee sought to assign the bill to the urban-dominated labor committee, which already is nursing three other oleo proposals.

Reps. Lowell Fess (R-Greene), William L. Manahan (R-Defiance) and Roy H. Longenecker (R-Wood) said the agriculture committee should give it a going over.

Butter backers won the first house roll call 65 to 64 and it looked like they had oleo on the run. But that changed when it was discovered Rep. Gordon C. Benner (R-Hamilton) had been talked incorrectly. A correction made the vote 65 to 64 in favor of the oleo bloc.

Then the house learned Rep. J. E. Simpson (R-Hardin) had not been recorded as voting with the ruralists. That correction made the count 65 to 65.

By that time the house leadership was too exhausted to care. So the battle was put over until today.

Here's the tentative fight card: Majority Floor Leader A. G. Ladd (D-Beaumont) plans to adopt the reference committee report. Fess will move to amend by striking the oleo bill from the report.

Then the house will vote on the amendment. If it is sustained, oleo will go back to reference committee and start all over again. If the amendment loses, the house then votes on the committee report. Adoption would send oleo to the labor committee's waiting arms where it is supposed to be being waylaid.

But that's the way things looked in advance of the house session at 10:30 a. m.

Loses Two Fingers In Blast of Cap

An operation on Glenn Johnson's left hand was performed yesterday at Youngstown South Side hospital with two fingers being removed.

A hospital spokesman said today that they hope to save the other fingers.

The youth, 12, was injured yesterday in a boy's apartment school when he exploded a dynamite cap as his classroom teacher, Mrs. Lucille Harshman, was taking the morning roll.

He and Lorene Detwiler, 10, were rushed to Salem City hospital for emergency treatment and Glenn was taken to the Youngstown hospital for a specialist's care. It was feared that his left hand would have to be amputated.

The boy suffered serious injury to an eye and may lose most of the function of that eye. Two fingers of his right hand were less dangerously injured.

Glenn is the son of Mrs. Ethel Johnson of R. D. 3, Salem.

Miss Detwiler and the other members of the class were in school today. According to A. J. Cobbs, superintendent.

Spirit Lake Was Never Like This

It was sheer coincidence that found this truck from Spirit Lake, Ia., on Erie Street in Missouri Valley, Ia., when flood waters from the Boyer River came in. The driver of the truck couldn't see any humor in the situation, though. Neither could 1200 persons left homeless in the area by the worst flood in its history.

East Liverpool Players Petition Coach To Stay

EAST LIVERPOOL, March 10—Thirty-six members of East Liverpool High school's football team signed an open letter today, asking Harold Leffler to remain as their coach.

Leffler resigned Tuesday, blaming "outside pressure" for his decision to step out.

Although he didn't say so in his letter, it since has come to light that his family was subjected to abuse by his critics, as well as himself.

His teams have won only three games in the last two years—one in 1947 and two in 1948.

He assumed charge of the team in September, 1947, succeeding Roy Hodge, who quit after the Potters dropped the first game of the season to Toronto. He had been Hodge's assistant coach.

In their open letter, the football players stated:

"As members of the '48 and '49 football squad, we feel badly because of the resignation of our coach, Mr. Leffler.

"The real reason for the past unsuccessful season of ours was because the team wasn't well developed when Mr. Leffler took over. Everyone, of course, should know a team isn't made overnight. It takes time—yes—time and practice that we all have tried to render, but we just didn't have enough. This wasn't because of Mr. Leffler; he had to start from scratch where our former coach left off.

"We also would like to know our so-called 'boosters' come in? Just because we lose doesn't exactly mean they have to quit cheering. If they were really behind us they would have kept upholding us instead of knocking us down. When we won a couple of games it was said that 'our' team won, but when we lost, the saying was, 'those players aren't worth a darn'.

"You can't expect to win and maintain such a team if the coach is changed every year. You should have someone who has been working with you and knows how you go about doing things. That is just what we want, our old coach—not a new one."

The letter was signed by all members of last year's squad.

Leffler, advised of the letter this morning, said he was "deeply touched" by the tribute, but couldn't say whether or not he might reconsider his resignation.

Before coming here, he coached in Bridgeport, Beaver, Pa., and at Martins Ferry, where he was an assistant coach for 11 years.

covered card tables were found in the backrooms of four places in the city, indicating that card gambling has been carried on.

Nine houses of prostitution were in operation on Front and Jersey sts., all of which had been raided several times in the past.

There was no evidence that punch boards or trade cards on other gambling devices were operating in the city.

The chief said that none of the above conditions exist in the city at the present time and pledged he would put forth every effort to see that none of the conditions were allowed to exist in the future.

Meanwhile Police Chief Harry L. Stark, who is due back on the job next week, said in Miami, Fla., that he "would not resign under pressure" and indicated that he would take over his duties on his return Monday.

Chief Stark said that if his health wouldn't permit his giving full effort to the job he would "turn in his badge."

NORTHWEST OHIO HIT BY BLIZZARDS

A blizzard swept across northern and western Ohio today, disrupting transportation and closing schools.

Snow accompanied by high wind struck Greenville at 3 a. m. and seven inches piled up in five hours.

Greenville and Darke county schools were closed. The Dayton-Greenville Transportation company, only bus line in Greenville, stopped operations. Snow drifts piled up on roads outside the city.

At Upper Sandusky, city and county school closed as five inches of snow fell. Drifts piled up and slowed traffic.

Four schools were closed in Northwestern Union county although Marysville schools remained open. Three inches of snow was recorded in the county.

Three inches of snow fell in Van Wert and made driving hazardous.

Three inches of snow fell in Montgomery county between 3:30 a. m. and 9:30 a. m. bus and train service was slowed, but not stopped.

Weather bureau officials reported road conditions throughout the Miami valley were "extremely dangerous." They predicted further snow buries and a freeze tonight.

The Cincinnati weather bureau reported a cold wave moving into the river city accompanied with high winds. They reported gusts at 38 miles per hour at times.

Temperatures ranged close to freezing. The lowest temperature of 29 degrees was recorded at Greenville. Cincinnati had 35 degrees.

Hamilton County Farm agent Carl R. Ribbee said the blizzard probably would not have any effect on the fruit crop.

Dalton W. Batlin, supervisor of horticulture for the Cincinnati city parks, said the cold wave may help flowering plants by retarding their budding.

Vice Picture In Alliance Better, Chief Tells Mayor

ALLIANCE, March 10—Mayor Robert D. Althouse today announced that his investigation of the vice conditions in Alliance was completed.

The mayor acknowledged a letter written to him by Acting Police Chief A. O. Lower reporting on the vice conditions in the city during and prior to last week.

Capt. Lower's letter reported that, though vice conditions did exist prior to March 6, there are no illegal operations going on at the present time.

The acting chief's letter said that prior to March 6:

Six pool halls and one restaurant on Main st. in the downtown area. Slot machines were being operated and liquor and alcoholic beverages were being sold in 14 fraternal and veteran's social lodges in the city on Sunday.

Covered card tables were found in the backrooms of four places in the city, indicating that card gambling has been carried on.

Nine houses of prostitution were in operation on Front and Jersey sts., all of which had been raided several times in the past.

There was no evidence that punch boards or trade cards on other gambling devices were operating in the city.

Plans have been completed by Salem Girl Scout council for the 37th birthday anniversary celebration of the national organization at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Salem High school auditorium.

Rev. G. C. Beebe, pastor of the Methodist church will be guest speaker.

A play entitled "Brave Girls" will be presented by 21 members of the Junior Pledge board.

Eleven interdenominational and two secular troops will participate in the festivities.

Mrs. Robert Eddy, president of the board, and Mrs. Fred Miller, registrar, will present five-year pins and first and second class badges in the court of awards.

Mrs. Adolph Merck, service chairman, will give out the service hour pins.

Sunday, March 13, will be "Go to Church Sunday" on the anniversary program when each troop will attend its respective church.

FIGHTING ON IN HOLY LAND ONCE AGAIN

Trans - Jordan Dispatches To London Tell of Trouble; British Near

By THOMAS C. WATSON

LONDON, March 10—(INS)—Trans-Jordan dispatches reported today a bitter tank battle between Israeli and Arab legion forces in the eastern Negev, and claimed that Israeli armor and artillery penetrated five miles of Trans-Jordan territory.

The Trans-Jordanian defense ministry in Amman claimed that Arab Legionnaires repulsed a Zionist armored force at Gharradun, 30 miles north of the Red Sea port of Akaba, base of 1,000 British troops, but that fighting was still going on in the area.

The ministry also said that an Israeli armored brigade, equipped with heavy tanks, 75 millimeter guns and heavily-armored vehicles, had knifed through five miles of Trans-Jordan territory and entered the El Risha plain.

A Trans-Jordan spokesman on the island of Rhodes, where Israeli-Trans-Jordan armistice negotiations are going on, termed the Israeli action "A Pearl Harbor" attack, and said that two Israeli columns were marching on Akaba.

Reliable sources in Amman asserted that another Israeli column had moved swiftly through the eastern Negev and gained a foothold on the Red Sea, close by Akaba.

This unit, it was understood, was awaiting a link-up with a larger body of Zionist troops moving down south along the Wadi Araba which lies between the Dead Sea and the Gulf of Akaba.

It was apparently this larger force which the Arab Legion was said to have engaged in combat.

The reported outbreak of large-scale hostilities in the Holy Land touched off speculation that Britain may become embroiled in the fighting.

London circles pointed out that under the terms of the British-Trans-Jordan treaty, a request for aid from King Abdullah, Trans-Jordanian monarch, would have to be honored. One thousand British soldiers are currently stationed at Akaba.

Preliminary surveys of an initial 339-mile turnpike route across northern Ohio contemplated linking it with the Pennsylvania toll road. An extension of that super-highway from near Pittsburgh to Ohio's eastern border already has been authorized.

The Ohio route would pass near Youngstown, Akron, Cleveland and Toledo. It would extend to the Indiana border, pointing towards Chicago.

Winter told the senate private financing was the only way Ohio could get such roads in the near future.

"The state does not have the money to do the job," he said.

The five voting against the turnpike bill were: Sen. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland), David McK. Ferguson (R-Cheney), Tom V. Moorehead (R-Muskingum), and Fred R. Seibert (R-Auglaize).

Liability owner of the Wheeling (W. Va.) Downs race track was convicted last November for evading income taxes totaling nearly $1,000,000. He was fined $10,000 and sentenced to five years in prison.

Liability appealed his conviction to Federal Judge William L. Baker of Wheeling on grounds he pleaded guilty to tax evasion only after he was led to believe a guilty plea would place him on probation, not in jail.

Judge Baker granted the new trial but government lawyers asked the fourth circuit appeals court to overrule the Wheeling judge and deny a new trial for Liability.

The appeals court yesterday ruled that the Liability case "is one of importance and testimony presented makes a new trial seem wise." Justice department lawyers said they didn't like that decision but they would not appeal it to the Supreme court.

No date has yet been set for Liability's new trial which will be in the district court.

WASHINGTON, March 10—(AP)—Police reported a confession today from two suspects seized in the daring Martinsburg, W. Va., train robbery.

The two were trapped by police today in a Washington pawnshop near the White House.

One was shot when he drew a pistol. Police Lieut. John E. Winters, who said the pair confessed, named them as Luman Ramsdell, 23, 1711 Wellington st., Youngstown, Ohio, and George Llewellyn Ashton, 21, 122 Kenmore ave., also of Youngstown. Winters said policeman Elwood Lomax fired when Ramsdell drew a .45 calibre revolver.

Ramsdell was taken to a hospital with a bullet wound in the stomach. The two were captured 15 hours after two young gunmen halted the Baltimore and Ohio's westbound Ambassador train yesterday near Martinsburg, terrorized passengers and escaped with more than $1,000.

Ramsdell and his partner were found in the pawnshop by officers searching the area on a tip that two young men resembling the train robbers had got off a bus from the train robbery area.

The two men, police said, were talking about purchase of a suitcase in the S. and W. pawnbrokers exchange when Lomax and Police Pvt. James D. Kennedy entered.

The two officers said the pair answered the descriptions given for the train robbers, and they approached to ask for identification.

Lomax said Ramsdell made a gesture toward his hip pocket as if to produce a wallet.

Instead, the policeman said, he came out with a pistol.

Police Kennedy, standing alongside his partner, showed the second suspect into the man with the pistol, at the same time yelling to Lomax:

"Let him have it."

Lomax did. The second man gave up.

Police said they took a .38 calibre revolver from Ramsdell, with four exploded shells and one loaded cartridge. From Ashton they said they took a .45 calibre pistol, also loaded.

Detectives who reached the scene, about five blocks from the White House, soon after the shooting said they found several hundred dollars in the men's pockets, in bills ranging from $1 to $20 denomination. They expressed belief it was part of the train robbery loot.

Formal Notice

The proposed Atlantic treaty, if it means anything, is only a formal notice that a similar situation henceforth will be recognized in international law.

The situation is this: That the United States will not tolerate control of its Atlantic frontier by an unfriendly power. It went to war with Germany in 1917 over that issue and again in 1941. It probably would go to war with Russia over the same issue. The proposed treaty is a declaration of that probability.

Congress still would have to make the actual decision to go to war. That, of course, is the soft place in the reasoning behind any agreement with the other signatories to an Atlantic treaty. What they seek is not the probability of United States aid. They can take that for granted. They want the certainty of immediate aid in case of attack.

Specifically, they want the Soviet union to know that the instant any one of them might be in imminent danger of attack by Russia the United States would dispatch planes, ships, troops and all forms of military assistance. They feel this would deter the thing they fear. They wouldn't want to wait for congress to debate a proposal to declare war while their borders were being crossed and their cities destroyed. They don't want U. S. help in driving out invaders but in preventing invasion.

The job in drawing up a pact has been chiefly to persuade the signatories that it was worth the effort. The United States has resolved this doubt by promising gifts of weapons to the other signatories to compensate for its own inability under constitutional law to commit its armed forces to any course of action without a formal declaration of war by congress. The pact is first of all a revival of military lend-lease and, beyond that, an agreement to do in the event of war with Russia what would be done anyway.

Tattle-Tale Bickering

First-hand observers in Washington are beginning to talk about a condition between the 81st congress and Mr. Truman which may not be generally realized for some time.

It wasn't merely the 80th congress that annoyed Mr. Truman. Nor was it the 79th congress. It's congress itself that annoys him. His own legislative experience seems to have made him unsympathetic.

He has no knack for getting along smoothly with the men and women who have responsibility for making laws. He does not know how to win their confidence, perhaps because he goes out of his way so often to proclaim that they don't have his confidence. He bickers not only with his political opponents in congress, which is to be expected, but with his own party's members. Few chief executives have had a better chance to understand how congress works or have gone further out of their way to keep in touch with old friends in congress. But if things continue to go from bad to worse, it may turn out that no president came into sharper conflict with congress.

Mr. Truman has aggravated, not soothed, the long-standing friction between executive and legislative authority in Washington. The bickering which has ensued is frequently over inconsequential matters. But like all bickering, it is a symptom of bad feeling—a sign of mutual intent to annoy a source of annoyance.

A Tough Little Statistic

The U. S. Treasury department, which is anxiously watching income tax returns on 1948 earnings, has released a tough little statistic on what happened in 1948.

In that first postwar year, only 4 percent of federal income tax-payers made more than $6,000 a year. But the 4 percent paid more than half of all income taxes collected.

There are two ways to look at that fact. One way is to jump at the conclusion that there was inequitable distribution of income. The other is to wonder where a top-heavy government would have found the wherewithal to pay its bills if it had lacked a small minority of heavy taxpayers to seek to the limit.

The federal government knows it has worked income taxation to the limit and must find a way to pluck more feathers from the taxpaying geese who now get off easy. That is the grand strategy behind social security taxes; they would upon up a new source of income for tax-payers. By tying up the taxes with potential benefits to be paid in the future, government can maintain the illusion that the rich are being soaked and the poor are being let off easy. But a tax by any other name hurts just as much in the long run. What the United States needs is bigger incomes that can be taxed at higher rates, if it isn't willing to have ever-higher rates imposed on ever smaller incomes.

Give A Dog A Bad Name

Everybody knows how the game is played, but the use of words to distort public issues is so systematic that both players and spectators sometimes forget what's being done.

What Americans think of as international security and speak of as "European aid" and "the Marshall plan" is invariably referred to by the Russians as "imperialism" and "Wall Street war-mongering."

The Truman administration's blueprint for a well-fare state is dubbed a "fair deal" by its backers, but referred to as "bureaucratic dictatorship" by those who still believe in personal liberty and self-reliance. These, in turn, are sneered at as "personal privilege" and "rugged individualism" by collectivists.

Persons who invest in real estate are properly owners or "landlords," depending on which side of the fence is being argued. "Political henchmen" become "loyal supporters" when the idea is to defend them instead of condemning them. "Ruthless opposition" is "determined resistance" when the opposition is yours, not the other fellow's.

In the middle thirties, the science of the meaning of a word began to be taken seriously by Washington bureaucrats," also known as "public servants." The art of using "sneaky words" or "pat descriptions," as the case may be, became a basis technique of "propaganda" or "dissemination of factual information"—also as the case may be. At the close of the first half of the 20th century, giant strides have been made. There is a dirty name and a proper name for everything, with the truth lying somewhere between in most cases.

The Stars Say

For Friday, March 11
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THE auguries for the day may be read as quite unpredictable, since the complexion of events and conditions may come within the range of the unique, spectacular, sensational and dramatic. The energies, faculties and forces are attuned to the dynamic urge, in which novelty, experiment, inventive genius and creative ability, may be assured sensational returns. Public recognition and private appreciation combine to bring a crisis, curious and thrilling.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may anticipate a period of the unusual, unprecedented and unpredictable. Truly the advice is to "expect the unexpected." However, the talents, emotions and feelings may be disposed to be erratic, prone to manifest the eccentricities of genius, unless firmly diverted into constructive and practical channels. It is timely to cash in on some exceptional idea, plan or creative faculty, launched with precision. Proper and well-directed effort should meet distinguished success.

A child born on this day is brilliantly equipped for success along creative lines or in some exceptional field of a public nature. A romantic career as well as thrilling is forecast.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

BY WALTER KIERNAN

If the federal courts find that baseball is a monopoly the Chicago teams can prove they didn't have any last year.

But this shapes up as a good season . . . 10 teams and four law firms are working out every day.

One club is looking for a playing manager who can hit, run and field in junctions.

And one scout was called in from the brush last week, given a press pass and told to scout juries from now on.

The owners have invited Mr. Truman to throw out the first ball and Tom Clark to throw out the first, second and third baseball out.

Good . . . it seems only yesterday that a baseball suit was a shirt and a pair of boxer knickers.

Anyway some baseball fans will agree with the plaintiffs and others think they prepared their own money plan.

New Test For Pregnancy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

In the last decade, a number of different tests have been devised for making a diagnosis of pregnancy. Fortunately, a new test which appears to be highly accurate, inexpensive and simple to perform, recently has been used in many pregnant women without any inaccurate results.

The test is carried out by injections into a muscle. Three of these injections are given over a period of five days. If the woman does not have a menstrual period within 24 hours after the last injection has been administered, it means that she is pregnant.

This test cannot be utilized on all women. It can be employed only in women who have regular periods, who have missed the last period, and who are healthy, with no anemia or bleeding. The patient also must not have had any recent treatment with glandular extracts.

Similar Injection

In beginning the treatment, the first injection is given deep into a muscle in the upper arm. Two or three days later, a similar injection is given into a muscle in the other arm, and about five days after the first injection, a third one is administered. If a menstrual period should occur during the interval in which the injections are being given, it means that the patient is not pregnant.

There are a number of other pregnancy tests which have been in use for some time now. They are carried out by utilizing various animals. In these tests, the patient's urine is used for injection into the animals. In order to carry out the test, it is necessary to examine the ovarian tissues of the animal to determine if any changes have been brought about by the injection of the urine. These tests depend upon the presence in the urine of certain glandular secretions which produce the changes in the animal's ovaries.

Inasmuch as the first test described above is simple and easy to carry out in the doctor's office, and

TWO COLUMBIANA DELEGATES NAMED

Dorothy Kabler Chosen For Girls State; Jane Babbitt Alternate

COLUMBIANA, March 10—Miss Dorothy Kabler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kabler, Fairfield ave., and Miss Jane Babbitt, daughter of Mrs. John B. Babbitt, Union st., have been chosen delegate and alternate to Girls State next summer. Both are juniors in Columbiana High school.

The delegates from Columbiana are sent every year by Firestone Legion Post auxiliary. The selection is made by the Americanism committee of the auxiliary in collaboration with the High school faculty, the committee consisting of Mrs. George Seederly, Mrs. William Hum and Mrs. George Keller.

The booster club will meet in the High school building this evening. For the second consecutive year Coach Jack Cramb's freshmen team of Columbiana High won the championship of Struthers Invitational tournament. The freshmen won the five games played. Each player received a gold basketball, and the trophy for the school may be seen at Wells' drug store.

County W. C. T. U. Meets
Six local branches of the Columbiana County W. C. T. U., Damascus, Winona, Lisbon, Rogers, East Palestine and Columbiana, were represented at a county institute in the Columbiana Christian church Tuesday. Mrs. Margaret Barton of Damascus county president, presided at the business session in the forenoon. Mrs. George Jones, president of the Columbiana branch, and Mrs. Gertrude Bowman conducted devotions at the morning session, and Mrs. Bertha Young at the afternoon session. Rev. W. T. Robinson, retired Methodist minister of Columbiana, speaker in the afternoon, compared the waste of money spent for alcohol with what it might accomplish if put to good use. A feature of the afternoon was a vocal solo by Mrs. Esther Culp, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Zellers.

Traveling Gavel Delivered
Twenty-two members of Pennova lodge of Odd Fellows, East End, East Liverpool, brought to Panora lodge of Columbiana Tuesday evening the traveling gavel. The gavel left Herwick, Pa., Oct. 21, 1947, and its delivery here marked the 33d stage of its journey westward to the destination, McComb, Ill.

Pennova lodge drill team, wearing Turkish acemeters with their Oriental costumes, gave an exhibition drill. Salem and Damascus lodges were also represented.

Scouts To Start Crusade
Columbiana community activities in the "crusade to strengthen the arm of liberty" will be launched in the Methodist church Monday evening at 8:15 by Boy Scout organizations. Principal D. W. Bailey of Columbiana High school, neighborhood commissioner, is general chairman for the community observance.

Participating will be Troop 16 of the Methodist church, Ted Holz, scoutmaster; Troop 18 of Firestone Legion post, Bud Moser, scoutmaster; and Cub pack 17 of the Presbyterian church, Charles Ramsey, scoutmaster. Troop committees are actively assisting in arrangements. The public is invited.

O. E. S. Has Anniversary
Columbiana chapter, O. E. S., celebrated its 29th anniversary Tuesday evening, with members of its mother chapter, Leontia, as guests. Past matrons and past patrons of Columbiana chapter were also honored and given small gifts of appreciation by the worthy matron, Mrs. Vivian Burge of Youngstown. A program in charge of Mrs. Norine Mollenkopf, Mrs. Roxie Moser and Miss Margaret Sittler, was presented, including group singing; a vocal trio by Misses Carolyn Gano, Rachel Esterly and Shirley Wells; a reading by Mrs. Mary Louise Harbold; vocal solo by Mrs. Martha Rambo, and a vocal duet by Misses Eleanor Esterly and Betty Moser. An appropriate birthday lunch was served from a table centered with a large, round birthday cake, a large star decorating the top.

Dear Kids:

Flying kites is lots of fun . . . especially when you fly 'em in open fields where both you and your kite are free from the dangers of electric wires. You see, you could not only lose your kite, but lose your life or be seriously injured if your kite gets tangled in an electric wire.

Now I surely don't want any of you kids to get hurt, and I want you to have fun flying your kites, so why not follow these safe kite flying rules and not only be safe but have a lot more fun in the bargain . . .

SAFE KITE FLYING RULES

1. Don't fly kites near electric wires.
2. Use only dry cotton kite string.
3. Don't climb poles to recover kites.
4. Don't use wire or metal on kites.

Enjoyable Program Held By Book Club, Leornians

Mrs. Eric Eckler read the delightful short story of love in wartime, "The Pool," to 60 members of the Book club and the Leornians at their annual party Wednesday evening in the library assembly room.

Explanation of the book also was given by Mrs. Eckler, who is assistant professor of English language and literature at Mt. Union college. "The Pool" is a sentimental mixture, part novel, part essay interwoven with fantasy.

Mrs. Robert Buckholdt, Leornians program chairman, and her committee arranged for the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Robert Mid-dler is music chairman.

Salem High school double octet sang two numbers, "How Sweet I Roam" and "White Swans" to piano accompaniment by Miss Dorothy Pozniko. Miss Pozniko played "Goliwogge Cakewalk" and "Ritual Fire Dance."

Mrs. H. D. Huttenhower and Mrs. John Hanna, presidents of the Book club and Leornians, presided at the meeting and at the silver tea service at the beautiful refreshment table.

A rectangular candle board in glossy white held four tall white tapers. Live ivy plants and other greenery made the St. Patrick green beneath the candle arrangement.

Mrs. A. H. Schropp, Mrs. Howard Milligan, Mrs. L. P. Koenreich, Mrs. Charles Wornel and Mrs. Ralph Woods of the hospitality committee represented the Book club which was hostess at the concluding social hour.

The Book club meets again March 21 and the Leornians April 13 in the library assembly room.

Methodist Group Meetings Enjoyed

Groups of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service met Wednesday afternoon.

Birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Howard Holloway, Mrs. Roy West, Mrs. Ernest Hoobler, Mrs. E. F. Naragon, Mrs. Lila Reed, Miss Ella Beeson, Mrs. Carl Gruber, Mrs. Laura Taylor and Mrs. William Shinn were celebrated at a group 3 coverd luncheon meeting at the church.

A decorated birthday cake and a bouquet of forsythia graced the table and St. Patrick's day favors marked the places.

Twenty-five members and one guest, Mrs. George C. Beebe, attended.

Mrs. Naragon used for her devotional theme, "Who Is My Neighbor?"

Mrs. George Beebe gave an impromptu inspirational Lenten talk.

Mrs. William Wright was in charge of the program and conducted two contests in which Mrs. Gruber and Mrs. Charles Wornel won honors.

Hostesses were Mrs. A. H. Wentz, Mrs. Shinn and Mrs. Roy W. Harris.

Group 5

Rev. George Beebe, pastor, was guest speaker at a dessert luncheon meeting of Group 5 at the church, with 25 members attending.

Rev. Beebe gave an interesting talk relative to denominational unity.

"Prayer" was the devotional theme used by Mrs. Cecil Baxter. The group sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer" with Mrs. John Shook at the piano.

Mrs. Wilbur Schnurrenberger offered a piano solo.

Mrs. Andrew Simmons was named as the general committee to plan for a Mother-Daughter social in May.

The nominating committee for officers is comprised of Mrs. James Primm, Mrs. E. T. Kennedy, and Mrs. Thomas Young.

Group 5 will be hostess at a meeting of the general society, April 6, when the theme will be "Latin America."

Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Primm arranged the program for this meeting. Twenty-five members attended.

Articles were brought for a box to be sent to Miss Nellie Lewis, missionary in India.

Mrs. R. H. Whitehead and Mrs. Vincent Taus were hostesses.

Group 6

Twenty members of Group 6 enjoyed a coverd luncheon at the home of Mrs. O. C. Hoover, Buckeye ave.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkbride.

Mrs. Lester Baldinger, program chairman, gave a review of the condensation of the book, "As Others See Us."

Miss Ruth McCutcheon of Pittsburgh has concluded a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Noll of Rose ave.

Music Entertains Women's Class

Mrs. James Lyle, reader, and Tyrus Swartz, musician, furnished entertainment at a meeting of the Loyal Women's class of the Christian church Tuesday evening at the church. Mrs. John Phillips was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Lyle gave three readings, "Minister Comes to Tea," "Baby Brother" and "Little Brown Baby." Mr. Swartz played three Hawaiian guitar selections, "Evening Prayer," "Whispering Hope" and "Hawaii I Love You."

Mrs. Carv Moore conducted the devotions. Mrs. Ross Clay was in charge of the refreshments.

K. T., Auxiliary Has Dinner Fete

A bouquet of forsythia and pussy willows lent a touch of spring to the beautifully-appointed table when 30 members of Salem commandery, Knights Templar, and its auxiliary enjoyed a dinner Tuesday evening in the Masonic temple.

The table was trimmed in keeping with St. Patrick's day and there were green favors.

Hostesses, Mrs. G. P. Lezier, Mrs. Little Wolgamuth and Mrs. R. E. Warren, were novelty St. Patrick's day hats. Selections by "The Slippery Five" band (Jim Bryan, director; Dave Jones, Bill Schuller, Jr., Jim Lewis and Jack Leiper) at the close of the dinner hour were much appreciated.

Entertainment for the auxiliary session was provided by a committee composed of Mrs. Harold Babb, chairman; Mrs. K. L. Cobourn and Mrs. J. F. Bryan.

Mrs. Bryan arranged the musical feature and Mrs. Cobourn offered a reading. Mrs. Babb was in charge of contests, in which Mrs. Earl Day won honors.

The order of Red Cross and order of Malta were exemplified at the commandery meeting.

At a special session March 22, the order of temple will be conferred. Plans were made for the annual inspection April 5.

The next regular meetings will be April 12.

Mrs. Krepps Honored By Cheerful Club

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Thomas Krepps was celebrated Wednesday at her home, S. Ellsworth ave., when members of the cheerful club gathered there for a coverd luncheon. She was presented a gift.

The table, trimmed in keeping with St. Patrick's day, was centered with a decorated birthday cake.

Mrs. Everett Hall received a special prize, while Mrs. James Minamyer received the hostess prize.

Mrs. Flora Day was a guest.

Mrs. Mary Leach will be hostess at the March 23 meeting at the home of Mrs. Wanda Marshall, E. Third st.

Winn-Krebs Vows To Be Exchanged

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Winn of R. D. 1, Alliance, of the engagement of their daughter, Mary Helen, to Richard Krebs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Krebs of Lake Odessa, Mich.

Miss Winn is a graduate of Alliance High school. Her fiancé graduated from Woodland, Mich. high school and served in the army during the last war.

Miss Winn and Mr. Krebs are attending Cleveland Bible college.

The future bride is a sister of Rev. Harold B. Winn of E. Fifth st.

Mrs. Charles H. Simpson and Mrs. Gus Doll returned to their home in Port Huron, Mich., Thursday, concluding a visit at the home of Mrs. Edward Alexander, Woodland ave., and Mrs. H. C. Milligan, Georgetown rd. Mrs. Simpson is a sister of Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Milligan and Mrs. Doll are their cousins.

Miss Jean Munsell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Munsell of Rose ave., and Clifford E. Althouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Althouse of the Damascus rd., were married Saturday, March 5, in Lexington, Ky.

Miss Letty Fisher of Salem and Leslie Russell of Newton Falls attended the couple at their wedding.

The bride was escorted in powder blue crepe with inserts of lace. Her accessories were grey, complemented with a corsage of gardenias.

Miss Fisher wore heavy blue with a red rose corsage.

Mrs. Althouse is employed in the commercial department of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., while Mr. Althouse is associated with his brother in the Althouse Brothers Buick Co. in Newton Falls.

Next month the couple will vacation in Florida and will be at home in their apartment in Newton Falls May 1.

VOCALERS' SPRING CONCERT MAY 13

May 13 is the date set for the annual spring concert by the Vocalers, Salem women's club.

This musical event will be held in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church. Proceeds will be used to defray expenses that incur on singing trips to veteran hospitals.

The club entertains the hospitalized veterans throughout the year.

The Vocalers will sing soon on a return engagement to Brecksville Veterans hospital.

Other activities will include a broadcast at 7:15 p. m. Monday over Alliance station WFAH, and a dinner party for members Tuesday evening at Butler grange hall. Mrs. Albert Zimmerman, president, is in charge of the arrangements.

McCloskey-Gross Nuptials Planned

The marriage of Miss Anna McCloskey of Minerva and William Gross of Kensington will be solemnized at 4:45 p. m. Sunday, March 20, in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, Wellsville-West Point road.

A reception will follow in the home of Misses Florence and Rosa Poynter of East Liverpool, aunts of the bride.

Miss McCloskey is a graduate of Minerva High school and is employed in a restaurant there. Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gross of Kensington, R. D., is associated with the Good Roads Machinery Corp. in Minerva.

LOST 75 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Mrs. Della Philabaum, Box 203, West Lafayette, Ohio, writes, "I have lost 75 lbs. with Renna in four months and have never known a hungry moment. I am so much lighter on my feet and have never felt better. Renna has done a world of good for me."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Renna from your drugist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day.

Class Hears Talk, Plans For Dinner

Jewish customs and holidays were discussed by Atty. Lozier Chaplain in an interesting and informative talk to members of the I.H.S. class of Holy Trinity Lutheran church on Tuesday evening at the church. It was followed by a question and answer period.

The meeting opened with group singing of the class song, "Follow The Oleman" and a prayer by Charles Youtz, teacher.

A Father and Son banquet Friday evening, April 29, at the church, open to all men of the church and their sons, is being sponsored by the class. Mrs. Albert DeWan was made general chairman.

Other chairmen are:

Kitchen committee, Mrs. Harry Voeel; dining room committee, Mrs. William Bailey and Mrs. George Schmidt, co-chairman; tickets and publicity, Mrs. Charles Youtz.

Vaughan Nicola, who won the checker tournament, was presented a gift from the class, with Albert DeWan, vice president, who officiated, making the presentation.

Mrs. George Schmidt and James Pife won prizes.

St. Patrick's day appointments were favored in the lunch, which was served by Mr. and Mrs. Verne Greenfield and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Platt, associate hosts, to 28 members.

Trinity Group Meets

Mrs. Harry Isenour will be the leader at a meeting of the Alice Dennis society of Holy Trinity Lutheran church at 7:45 p. m. Friday in the church.

Mrs. Carl Aeschliman is the hostess.

Mrs. William Lutz and children, Linda and Billy, of N. Ellsworth ave., are home after a visit with relatives in Gaffney, S. C.

Mrs. Raymond Ecken of Columbiana and daughter, Mrs. Joseph Calabria of Cleveland, were Salem visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bare of Aetna st. have returned from a two-month vacation trip to points in Florida.

Mrs. S. A. Lents and Mrs. Ingall Balaban of Detroit, formerly of Salem, returned home today after a visit here.

G. B. SHAW SAYS HE IS COMMUNIST

But Decries Methods Used
By Party In Elections;
Says He Knows Score

LONDON, March 10 — (AP) — George Bernard Shaw described himself today as a Communist, but said the Marshall plan is "for the moment absolutely necessary."

Shaw's observation was made in a letter to John Mahon, Communist candidate for parliament in tomorrow's by-election in the St. Pancras district of London.

His advice to the candidate repudiates the top-drawer rallying cry of the Cominform — that the Marshall plan must be wrecked because it represents American "imperialism."

Shaw refused to campaign for Mahon because "in my 83rd year I am, past such activities." But he had plenty of advice.

"I am a Communist and always call myself so," the playwright wrote, "and when I do, I know what I am talking about, which is more than can be said for some of our friends."

"But there is more to it than that. The Communist party knows no more about electioneering than a pig knows about a holiday."

The lecture continued that the Communist party has allowed the Tory conservatives "to force on you as an election issue the alternatives of private versus public enterprise, instead of rubbing in the hard fact that in Russia private enterprise flourishes more than ever."

"It has committed you to oppose the Marshall plan, which is, for the moment, absolutely necessary and makes a vote for you a vote against Sir Stafford Cripps," he went on. "It is a chancellor of the exchequer and boss of Britain's austerity program."

"In the fact of such political incoherence, how can I take a side in the election?" Shaw asked. "You had better run as an independent, a position much stronger today than it was at the last election, when it meant simply losing one's deposit."

Election deposits of $600 are required of candidates in British elections as a guarantee they will poll at least an eighth of the total votes cast. The deposit is forfeited if a candidate fails to do that.

Release Bombing Suspect
CLEVELAND, March 10—Julius A. Petro, 26, questioned in connection with the stench bombing of a Willoughby restaurant Monday, was released for lack of evidence, police said.

Shower Party Held
Mrs. A. E. Hughes entertained a group of friends Wednesday evening at her home on W. Tenth st. in honor of Mrs. George Shultz of Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Shultz, former Salem residents, recently adopted a three month old girl, who they named Melinda. This party was arranged as a gift shower for the baby.

Mrs. E. C. Allen and Mrs. Alex Hersman, of North Lima, also former Salem residents, were out-of-town guests.

Five hundred prizes went to Mrs. Shultz and Mrs. Michael Schuller.

PRIZED HEREFORDS
SOLD FOR $50,000
EAST LIVERPOOL, March 10—A herd of 118 pure-bred Herefords brought $50,000 at a dispersal sale of the Crocker City farms in Madison township Wednesday.

The cattle averaged $430 per head. Trammell Hollis of Martinsburg, W. Va., paid $2,500 for C. C. Larry Domina 10th, a breeding bull, and Dr. C. E. Sanery of South Bend, Ind., paid the next highest price of $2,400 for C. C. Larry Domina 5th, foundation breeder for his herd.

A Canadian, John S. Hull, spent $1,200 for Miss C. C. Larry Domina 22nd.

The sale attracted 150 buyers from eight states and Canada.

A. E. Webber and son, Leonard Webber, operators of the farm, said they disposed of the herd because of a shortage of herdsmen. They retained a small dairy herd of Holstein cattle.

Passengers and others were certain there were only two.

Put a feverish robbery which occurred nearby soon after the heist "gained" notice to spend some time looking for four. They more or less "stomped" their way later.

"Because the train's fireman was 'shanghaied' and taken to the tavern, city police said it seemed likely certain the train bandits also rode the roadhouse."

The fireman, R. B. Purdue of Baltimore later fled the tavern and "joined his train."

The B. & O. said it had reports of two men boarding the train at Washington with tickets from Miami, Fla., to Youngstown, Ohio.

Stunned passengers told how they were faced with an unbelievable situation and how the men ranged from the Diesel locomotive through the coaches and a Pullman—stealing what they could find.

Walter Epps, 30, of Baltimore, Negro chef, suffered a minor leg injury when a bullet was fired through the glass of a train door.

Rebecca Davis, Negro, of Detroit, received head injuries when she was gunwhipped by one of the bandits.

Train Is Halted
The robbery occurred two miles west of Martinsburg shortly before 8 p. m. The Ambassador was headed toward Cumberland, 60 miles away.

The signal cord on the train was pulled and the Ambassador stopped. All witnesses agreed the robbers forced it to back up a considerable distance to what is known as Warm Springs crossing.

In the few hectic minutes which followed, the crewmen and passengers were cowed and relieved of what money they had.

The B. & O. had reports of $767 taken from coach passengers, along with a $100 ring and an $85 watch.

U. S. Fears France May Be Weak Link In A Bomb Secrecy

By LEON DENNEN
WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Government authorities are worried that France may be the weak link in the chain of secrecy surrounding the atomic bomb.

Their concern has just been intensified by the startling disclosure that the purportedly patriotic statement by Prof. Frederic Joliot-Curie, head of French atomic research, was prepared by the French Communist Politburo and cleared by Moscow. Curie is a member of the Communist party.

This disclosure was made by Maurice Thorez, chief of the French Communists, in a recent closed meeting of party editors.

Defending his patriotism in a speech before the Anglo-American Press Association in Paris, Professor Curie had asserted: "French Communists entrusted with such secrets as the atomic bomb by their country will never betray them to a foreign power."

The professor's declaration was greeted with enthusiasm by the entire French press from left to right. President Vincent Auriol warmly defended Curie's patriotism.

Word has just reached me from a reliable source in France that a few days later at the secret meeting of Red editors:

The editor of Ce Soir inquired: "How can a Communist make such a statement?"

Thorez replied: "You must admit that to say what Comrade Curie said at this time is a better defense of the interest of the Soviet Union than any other statement he could have made. Besides, the statement was prepared by the Politburo and cleared with Moscow."

On Trial As Spy

Gertrude Doerre, 26, above, one of eight persons on trial in Munich, Germany, for alleged spying on U. S. troops, is shown as she appeared before the military court. She is said to have admitted being a former Gestapo spy, and to have been sent into Germany by the Czech Red government.

ment he could have made. Besides, the statement was prepared by the Politburo and cleared with Moscow."

Subsequently Thorez joined other Communist leaders in a public profession of first allegiance to Russia in the event of war. Such statements are, in the opinion of close students of the Soviets, a reflection of growing concern over the move for a Western alliance.

It is believed that the Russians hope by these statements of their leaders to intimidate the people of Europe into believing that there will soon be a war in which they will be compelled to choose between Russia and the United States. This plays on the fear of war which is in every European heart and is intended to make the electorate of the Western nations fearful that in welcoming United States aid they hasten a showdown with the Soviets.

Ministers, Barkeepers In Arkansas Exchange Words

GLUCE, Ark. — There haven't been any planes shot down yet on the Globe-Miami front but all other attributes of first-class warfare are in the making in this mountain mining community.

In a campaign that for sheer virility would have made Currie Nation turn in her heels, the official action committee of the Giles County Ministerial Association has waded into the bars and taverns of Globe and Miami with the following results to date:

The Rev. Melvin Laven of the First Christian church of Globe says he was beaten by parties unknown when he entered a bar with three other ministers and a photographer to take pictures of asserted gambling.

Harold Montgomery of Harold & Walt's Tavern in Miami says the Rev. A. Luke Fritz of the Community Presbyterian church, also in Miami, shot him in the face with a tear-gas gun.

A suit for $30,500 damages is on file against the Ministerial association by Montgomery.

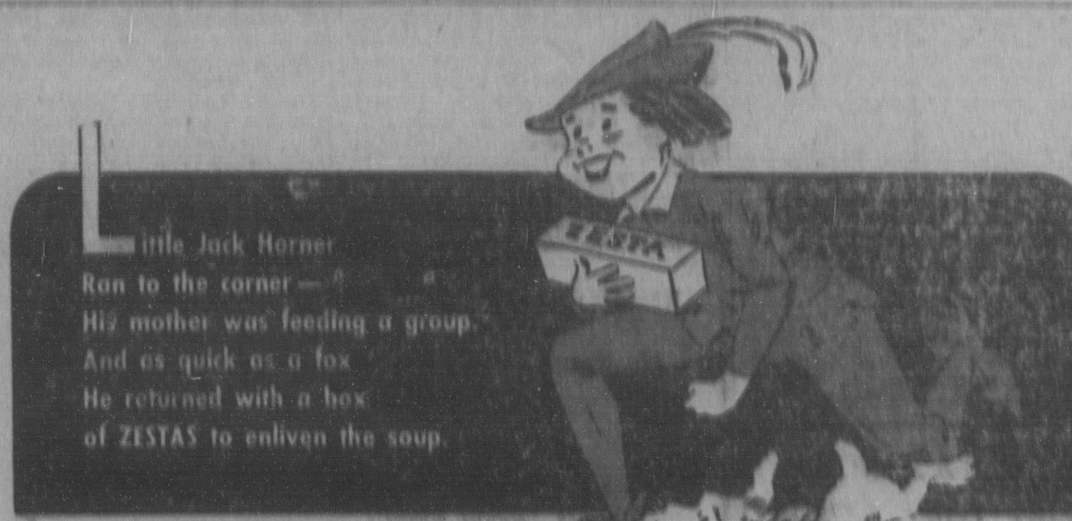

John A. Duncan, state superintendent of liquor control, has received formal complaints from the ministers against Montgomery and other bars of the district.

The Rev. R. Felder Code asserted that the social action committee of which he is a member, had a minor (with the approval of his guardian) attempt to buy liquor in 19 bars in the embattled area. Three of them turned the lad down, according to Code.

Thus far the only actual casualty of the warfare which broke out New Year's Day is the case of Rudolph (Mutt) Bewitch, who was lured for $200 and given a six-month suspended sentence for operating a dice game on the outskirts of Globe.

TREASURY POWER NOT COMPLETE, COMMISSION SAYS

Believes Control of All Credit Finance Should Be Supervised

By CHARLES MOLONY
WASHINGTON, March 10—(AP)—The treasury should have closer supervision over government lending, the Hoover commission said today.

It also told congress the department could operate more efficiently and economically if freed from "political appointments," particularly those of internal revenue and customs collectors.

The government reorganization group headed by former President Herbert Hoover split 8 to 4 in recommending direct treasury "supervision" over two multi-billion dollar agencies: The Reconstruction Finance corporation, chiefly a lender to U.S. business concerns and the export-import bank, chiefly a lender to foreign governments.

"The President," said the majority report, "cannot give the time necessary for their supervision. Practically, they are accountable to nobody. The treasury should again be made the real fiscal center of the government."

Disension on Point
While there was discussion on that point, the commission called unanimously for "thorough" reorganization of the treasury to rid it of politics, "obsolete organization and methods" and irrelevant functions.

To get politics out, the commission said, all treasury officials below assistant secretary "should preferably be appointed from the career service without senate confirmation."

All 13 members agreed the narcotics bureau, which fights the illicit drug traffic, should be shifted from the treasury to the justice department, and that the treasury should give up its role as chief supply buyer for the government.

The commission recommended the treasury be made a central agency to (a) "inspect 10 other once-active lending agencies still holding more than $1,000,000,000 in assets, and (b) speed up their liquidation."

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) was one of three commission members who suggested the RFC and export-import bank be transferred to the Commerce department rather than the treasury because they fit in better with "promotion of foreign and domestic commerce and trade."

Secretary of State Acheson, whose department had had close connections with the RFC and export-import bank, also dissented.

He said he favored putting the two presently independent loan agencies "in an executive department," but doubted that the commission had explored the matter enough to justify its recommendations.

GRANGES

Goshen
Three members were reinstated and three applications for membership accepted when members of Goshen granges met Friday evening in the hall.

The young people's degree team will conduct the exemplification of the third and fourth degrees at the meeting March 14.

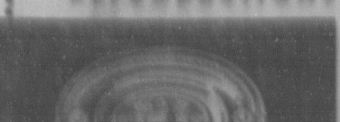

Eula Schaefer entertained at Friday's session with a reading and Mary Althouse and Mary Arkanitis of Winona sang several vocal duets.

Mrs. Wade Schaefer, the lecturer, had charge of the contests and Mrs. Jack Hollinger gave a talk on Safety.

Mrs. Thomas Richards and her daughter Marjorie, who headed the social committee, arranged the party supper.

Shirred Eggs With Vegetables
Ingredients: Grease four individual shirred egg dishes. Break 2 eggs into each dish. Put dishes on a baking sheet so they will be easy to handle and bake in a slow to moderate oven (325-350°) over for about 12 to 16 minutes, or until eggs are as firm as desired. Sprinkle lightly with salt. In the meantime heat carrots and celery and drain well; put a border of them around each shirred egg dish. Garnish one side with a sprig of parsley and lay a strip of bacon across the other. Serve at once. Four servings.

Frosted Chocolate Cake
Ingredients: 2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup packed brown sugar, 2 eggs, 3 squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate (melted), 1 cup milk.
Method: Sift flour, baking soda and salt together. Cream shortening and vanilla, add brown sugar gradually, and cream until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time, extremely well. Add melted chocolate and blend. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing until well combined each time; but do not overmix and begin and end with flour. Turn into a greased 8x8x2-inch pan and bake in a moderate (350°) oven until done.

For Frosting: Cream a quarter cup of butter or margarine in 2 cups of sifted confectioner's sugar and a teaspoon of vanilla; thin with a little cream until consistency for spreading.

Employees In Gambling Den Get Pay Decrease

YOUNGSTOWN, March 10—(AP)—The luck days must be going.
A gambling casino just outside the city boundary has cut the pay of its employees 20 per cent and five workers have quit in protest, the employees disclosed.
About 50 employees were affected by the cuts which meant the average weekly pay envelope was about $30 thinner.
Some gamblers said the cuts were caused by a reduced patronage. Others said the crowds were just as big, but bingo was getting the play and the dice tables and slot machines, which net the operators more profit, were being given the go-by.
One of those who stayed on countered: "Where can I do better?"

Fazed Cain

Sen. Harry P. Cain (R) of Washington rests his feet after ending a six and three-quarter hour speech opposing the nomination of Mon Wallgren to be chairman of the National Security Resources Board. In front of him is the extra pair of shoes which he used to relieve his aching legs during the talk. Cain has promised to speak "about 10 more hours" against Wallgren later.

Sales Tax Collections Take Huge February Dip

COLUMBUS, March 10—(INS)—Sales tax collections in the last week of February fell half a million dollars short of receipts in the corresponding week of last year.
Prepaid tax receipts collected by the state treasury amounted to only $1,817,670 for the week ending Feb. 26 compared to $2,359,572 in the corresponding week of 1948.
Over-all collections for the year continued to lag behind those of last year. The total so far amounted to $14,799,884 compared with 1948 figures which reached $16,199,355 by the end of February.

Re-elect Union Head

CLEVELAND, March 10—Left-wing forces led by re-elected President Charles K. Beckman won 19 out of 12 executive board posts in an election conducted by Local 45 of the CIO United Automobile Workers yesterday. Cuba Expected To End Red Relations

HAVANA, Cuba, March 10—(AP)—An early rupture in Cuban-Soviet relations was predicted today after the Cuban government handed out two blistering notes to the Soviet embassy here.

The notes, made public last night, accused the Russians of "brazenly aggressive" propaganda and totalitarian methods.

They said Communism seeks destruction of "the world democratic system" and bluntly added: "This situation cannot persist."
President Carlos Prío Socarras' government also rejected a Soviet protest about the sale here of carnival masks of Prime Minister Stalin's face.

Cuba formally protested recent statements by Communist leaders in various countries that Communist sympathies in these nations lie primarily with Russia.

These statements were made, the notes said, "in obedience" to orders from Moscow.
There was no indication when the expected formal break in diplomatic relations might come.

Will Choose Queen

COLUMBUS, March 10—(AP)—One of six pretty Ohio State university coeds will be selected Freshman queen today. The six were chosen from 71 contestants competing for the honor.

The six are Molly McCurdy, Zanesville; Sally Morris, Euclid; Jennette Hosman, Independence; Bobbie Selborne, Columbus; Gay Heath, Sedalia, and Regina Rheinegger, Trenton.

Cleveland Firm Cuts Price of Ice Cream

CLEVELAND, March 10—The Bowman Ice Cream Co., announced yesterday a price cut of two cents a pint in package ice cream and three cents a quart in the bulk product.

A company spokesman said the cut reflects a recent downward trend in milk prices and should continue throughout the spring.

Harbor Lights Go On

CLEVELAND, March 10—The Cleveland harbor light will be put into operation next week, Coast Guard Commander John P. Geerman said. The Detroit river and Toledo harbor lights, the Maumee bay range station and North and South Mainou island lights in Lake Michigan, he reported, are among lighthouses on Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan which already are manned.

Will Try To Convince Burke On Conveyor Plan

CLEVELAND, March 10—(INS)—Officials of the Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc., hoped today to meet with Cleveland Mayor Thomas A. Burke to discuss the benefits the sixth city would receive from the proposed Lorain-to-East Liverpool belt conveyor project.

Burke disclosed yesterday that on the basis of his present information, he would have to oppose the pending Ohio senate bill to establish the 235 million dollar belt as a common carrier of ore and coal.

The mayor declared that creation of the belt would have a serious detrimental effect on Cleveland's dock and railroad facilities.

H. B. Stewart, Jr., president of the Conveyor Lines and also president of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown railroad, said that the effect of the project upon Cleveland would be beneficial rather than harmful.

DEFENSE BOSS JOHNSON, JOVIAL MAN IN OFF-HOURS, HARD BUSINESS DRIVER

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON—(NEA)— When America's new defense boss, Louis A. Johnson, really puts his powerful 220-pound frame into a shot they say he drives a golf ball farther than a pro.

In fact, when he puts his weight behind almost anything, he usually drives a considerable distance. Cited as proof is what happened during the recent campaign (he was—and is—chairman of finances for the Democratic National Committee) When President Truman called him in and said:

"Louis, we're going to win this thing. But we need a lot more money."

Johnson replied: "If I get you a million dollars this afternoon, will that help?"

Then Johnson got on the long distance telephone, and later that night was able to report to the amazed President that the additional million had been pledged to the cause. A man who helped place some of those calls that afternoon tells this story.

The first time you meet Johnson you either like him a lot or don't like him a lot. Most people like him, which accounts for where he is today.

He's bald, big, square and enthusiastic. He talks fast and loud. In one interview he can efficiently tell a funny story, handle a long distance phone call, answer your questions right to the point, mutter two or three orders into the intercom, bring you up to date on a mutual friend, smoke two cigars and fill a huge pipe twice and still not make you feel that you're cutting in on his time.

Few men could maintain the schedule he's followed for the last few years and survive. Friday night his week in Washington ends. He leaves behind his huge suite of law offices, staffed by close to 20 hard-working attorneys, and his big apartment in the Mayflower Hotel, and takes the overnight train for his palatial estate in Clarksburg, W. Va. Saturday it's a game of golf—seldom above the low 90's—a visit to his law office there and off on the train back to Washington.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday he's a big-time politician and highly successful attorney. Thursday he's in New York as director of General Aniline Film Corp. and General Dyestuffs Corp. for which his law firm is counsel. Friday he's back in Washington.

In his spare time he maintains active membership in a half dozen lodges, clubs and fraternities and eats ice cream, his favorite food. While he travels he gets in a fantastic volume of reading, current magazines and books. His hobby is the American Legion. He was National Commander in 1932-33.

His closest friends are past and present officials of the Legion. His bag of practical jokes and gags is considered one of the biggest in the organization.

Johnson's bluff, jovial disposition during non-business hours is in sharp contrast to his attitude at work. He's a stickler for prompt answers to letters, as every stenographer and young lawyer in his organization soon learns. When Johnson issues an order it had better be done in a hurry. He insists on a very tight ship.

Johnson has been driving himself and others since his days at the University of Virginia, where he supported himself and was a champion wrestler and orator, president of his law class and an outstanding student. He headed for Clarksburg after graduation because someone told him it "was a young man's town." A successful law practice there quickly led to a seat in the state legislature. During World War I he served in the front line trenches as a captain, winning the French Legion of Honor.

The American Legion was his first step into the big time. He went on to active work with the Democratic National committee as head of the veterans' division. Next step was assistant secretary of war, where he got the job of mobilizing the country for World War II.

That was the job that brought him into later conflict with James Forrestal, the man he now succeeds as secretary of defense. Both men are pipe-smokers, but they do not smoke in harmony.

In testimony before a congressional committee after World War II was over, Forrestal sharply criticized Johnson's original plan for mobilization as "too generalized." When Johnson's time came to speak he shot back:

"I think Mr. Forrestal did a good over-all job in the Navy Department but I do not think his testimony is very good, or better than a lot of other people as to evaluating that (mobilization) point."

Food Shoppers Find Little Shift In Prices This Week

By the Associated Press
Food shoppers this week will find meat and dairy product prices mostly unchanged from last week-end. Trade spokesmen said the leveling-off trend anticipated since the first of the month apparently had set in.

Several vegetables were a little cheaper in many cities, depending on local market conditions. Lettuce, for example, was trimmed a cent or two a head in scores of supermarkets across the country.

An agriculture department marketing spokesman in New York said consumer price resistance was responsible, although most vegetables are "not out of line with other foods pricewise."

"Housewives simply turn to something else, like cabbage, when they find lettuce costs a few cents more than they're accustomed to pay," he said.

Federal Tax On Oleo Is Lifted

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(AP)—The house agriculture committee voted today to take all federal taxes off oleomargarine and at the same time to ban colored oleo in interstate commerce.

The vote was 24 to 3. Earlier the committee defeated by 14 to 3 a measure that would have permitted interstate sale of oleo, but would have required restaurants that serve the spread to advertise the fact plainly on menus.

The legislation approved, if it is made law by congress, would absolutely bar the sale of yellow oleomargarine unless it was manufactured in the state where it was sold.

There is nothing in the bill, however, to prevent interstate sale, as at present of uncolored oleo with a separate package of coloring matter to be added by the user.

Rep. Fosage (D-Tex.), author of the defeated measure to permit sale of colored oleo, said he will take his battle to the house floor.

Federal taxes that would be repealed, if the measure approved today becomes law, are:
On colored oleo at retail 10 cents a pound; on the uncolored product at retail one-fourth cent a pound.
$480 a year on wholesalers of the colored product; $200 a year on wholesalers of uncolored oleo.
$48 a year on each retailer of the colored product; $6 a year on retailers of the uncolored oleo.

NEW! "HIGH-SPEED" RELIEF FOR RHEUMATIC ACHE-PAINS
MUSTEROLE LINIMENT

Beets, onions and tomatoes also topped the list of vegetables reduced this week, while sweet potatoes—now nearing the end of their storage season—edged upward as supplies became more limited.

Some beef and pork cuts eased a few cents a pound in scattered cities across the country, but the overall trend was steady. Lamb was comparatively scarce, and lamb livestock prices were unusually high at Chicago. But trade sources said retail prices already were "about as high as the market will bear" and were not likely to climb further in the immediate future.

Have Troubles
Eastern produce buyers complained that their representatives in Maine—their No. 1 source of potatoes—were having difficulty obtaining all the potatoes they sought. Commercial buyers said they had been competing for supplies with government buyers purchasing large shipments under the price-support program for industrial uses.

Produce company spokesmen noted while commercial shipments of potatoes from Maine totaled 1,159 carloads in the week of January 9-15, the ratio had been reversed in recent days. On Tuesday, for example, commercial shipments were 222 carloads against government shipments of 257. On Monday it was 141 commercial, 186 government. And on Saturday, 166 commercial, 265 government.

However, potatoes were too plentiful in all distributing centers for any such temporary buying condition to affect either retail supplies or prices.

Five associations representing various divisions of the frozen foods industry held their first joint national convention in Chicago this week and forecast substantial increases this year in the amount of food packed by freezing processes.

Fred J. Becker of Gresham, Ore., president of the National Association of Frozen Packers, said the industry's production of 1,125,000,000 pounds of food in 1948 was an estimated increase of 120,000,000 pounds over the previous year. He predicted that the country's retail outlets for frozen foods sales would climb to about 100,000 this year from some 60,000 in 1948.

Other speakers urged the industry to cooperate toward reducing the price of frozen foods in order to meet competition from other lines.

"Millions of consumers will pay a slight premium for the superiority of frozen foods—but many of them cannot afford to pay today's premiums," said William M. Walsh of Pittsburgh, president of the National Wholesale Frozen Food Distributors.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week declined one cent to $5.81 from last week, and compared with $6.61 a year ago. The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 general use foods.

Perfect Signal System To Halt Air Mishaps

BALTIMORE—Charles Adler, Jr., a Baltimore lighting engineer, has designed a signal system to warn pilots of approaching aircraft and prevent collisions.

Adler's invention consists of a transmitter and two receivers, the latter attached to each side of the airplane's nose section. The transmitter sends out irregular, micro-wave impulses in all directions within a 20-mile radius. When another plane comes within range of the transmitter, the signal lights up the nose receiver on the side from which it is approaching. If the plane is dead ahead; both receivers light up.

Adler went to work on his signal system after his private plane narrowly missed ramming into an air liner over Baltimore.

LEETONIA

A sound moving picture story "Beyond Our Own" will be shown at the midweek Lenten service at St. Paul's Lutheran church Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m., March 17. The picture, "The King of Kings" will be shown. Offerings at these services will be used for Lutheran world action.

Brillhart and Sue Bixler Mission ary societies of St. Paul's Lutheran church are observing the Week of Prayer with afternoon services.

The theme for these meetings is "The Way of Peace." Mrs. T. P. Laughner and Mrs. Edith Reisch had charge of the meditations for Monday. Mrs. G. E. Holt, Jr., and Mrs. Joseph Woodward will have charge of the meditations for Wednesday and Miss Barbara Wiedmay-er for Friday.

Mrs. Glen Jackson entertained six sophomore girls at her home Monday noon at lunch in honor of the 16th birthday of her daughter, Joan. Included in the guest list were Janet Stratton, Shirley Rance, Martha McCormick, Nancy Stelts, Jean Cushing and Esther Ann Stecker. The honor guest received gifts.

John White, Jr., a sophomore at Western Reserve university, Cleveland, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John White, Sr.

Mrs. Carrie Heck of North Lima,

Mrs. Anna Floding and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Spatholt have returned from a six week visit with Mr. and Mrs. Spatholt's daughter, Mrs. Ben D. Varner at Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Floding's sister, Mrs. Karl Selin at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. William Platt of Youngstown, were Saturday evening visitors at the home of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. C. Eldon Holt, Jr.

Mrs. Charles W. Lodge fell at her home on Columbia st. Tuesday, fracturing her hip. She was taken to the Salem City hospital.

The monthly meeting of the Patron-Teachers association was held at the high school building Monday evening with the president, Wilbur Stratton, in charge. Mrs. E. D. Miskall of East Liverpool showed two reels of film on "Health and Cancer." During the business meeting, the association gave $10 to the Red Cross drive and $10 to the cancer drive. Plans were discussed to serve the dinner for the Junior-Senior prom May 7. The next meeting will be held April 4.

At the monthly meeting of St. Patrick's Mothers club Friday evening, plans were made for a bake sale April 16, the place to be announced later. Mrs. Frank Gabriel is in charge.

Mrs. Marcus Holt entertained bridge club associates at her home Tuesday evening.

Relatives called surprise fashion at the home of Waldo Hall, Tuesday evening, to remind him of his birthday. Mr. Hall received remembrances. Mrs. Hall served lunch. Sheldon Lawrence of Washington, D. C., was a Monday overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Sherwood. Mr. Lawrence of the Se-cret Service, was enroute to Detroit with the private car of President Truman, where it is to have the engine replaced.

Speech Trophy Will Honor Memory Of Louis H. Brush

Ohio's best high school debaters will compete for a new trophy next week at the annual state finals in forensic speaking, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, March 18-19, at Ohio State university.

First award of the Louis H. Brush memorial trophy, presented by the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., will be made to the winning Class A debate team to be selected from the state's 13 district winners. Class A schools are those with enrollments above 450.

The trophy will be a rotating award, with permanent possession going to the school which wins it a second time, not necessarily in succession. The initial presentation will be made by a Brush-Moore official on Saturday afternoon, March 19, Paul Carmack of the Ohio State speech department faculty and director of the Ohio High School Speech league, announced.

Schools competing include Canton McKinley, Louisville, Sylvania Burnham, Lima Central, Columbus East, Columbus Central, Athens, Cincinnati St. Xavier, Dayton Oakwood, Dayton Fairmount, Ravenna, Wooster, Cleveland Cathedral Latin and Youngstown Chaney.

The memorial award will honor the late Louis H. Brush of Salem, one of the founders of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc. A life-long Ohioan, he entered newspaper work immediately upon graduation from Mount Union college at the turn of the century.

Mr. Brush spent his entire adult life in newspaper work as reporter, business manager and general manager of the newspapers. Then as president of the Brush-Moore organization. He was chairman of the board at the time of his death in June, 1948.

Brush-Moore newspapers in Ohio are the Canton Repository, Marion Star, East Liverpool Review, The Salem News, Portsmouth Times and the Steubenville Herald-Star. In addition, Brush-Moore owns and operates radio stations WHBC and WHBC-FM in Canton and WPAY and WPAY-FM in Portsmouth.

Class B schools and county league schools also will enter debate competitions at Ohio State on March 18-19. Individual contests for all three classes will be held in extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, dramatic declamation and humorous declamation.

The mayor of Aurora, which is near Cincinnati, is going to run Aurora's clocks as Cincinnati does.

"Until Cincinnati makes a change, Aurora will stay on daylight fast time," said Mayor Lance Bocher.

Cities in the Calumet area adjoining Chicago announced even before the law was passed that they would go on daylight time when Chicago does.

Michigan City, just south of the Michigan line, will try still another plan. Mayor Russell Hileman said the city hall would keep its clocks on Central standard, as the law provides, but would open and close an hour earlier than it does now. Factories and business houses will do the same.

Fort Wayne, near Michigan and Ohio, has adopted a city ordinance providing Daylight time this summer.

Officials of South Bend and Elkhart have said they would leave the questions to the citizens.

In the meantime, the legislature which passed the law ignored time altogether.

The session was over officially at midnight Monday, but the assembly finished its business and was still in session today with the legislative clock stopped at 11:20 Monday.

British Columbia's grape crop yielded 2,763,000,000 pounds in 1947.

TELLING TIME IS A PROBLEM AGAIN IN INDIANA TOWNS

INDIANAPOLIS, March 10—(AP)—the question, "What time is it?" is going to be as hard as ever to answer in Indiana next summer.

Indiana has a brand new law, passed by the farm bloc in the legislature, making Central Standard time the legal time all the time.

But the cities, which have been operating in the summer on Daylight Saving time, and the communities adjoining states which have Eastern or Daylight time, have a different idea, since there is no penalty for violation.

The mayor of Aurora, which is near Cincinnati, is going to run Aurora's clocks as Cincinnati does.

"Until Cincinnati makes a change, Aurora will stay on daylight fast time," said Mayor Lance Bocher.

Cities in the Calumet area adjoining Chicago announced even before the law was passed that they would go on daylight time when Chicago does.

Boyle's COLUMN

By GEORGE TUCKER
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK—Once upon a time there was a greedy little man who wanted the whole world for himself.

He was a sickly little man, with tiny hands and feet, and a head too large for his body.

His feet were always cold. He would lie in hot water for hours, claiming the cold was locked in his bones.

Not for one moment did he consider himself effeminate, though he had wide hips and narrow shoulders like a woman, and a complexion as fair as a girl's.

In fact, women adored him. A look from him and they were at his feet. He had seven mistresses.

"I love nobody," he declared. "Friendship is only a word."

YET HE WAS a monster of jealousy. One day he left town on a short business trip, and next day he wrote his wife, "I want you on my heart. Quickly, fly, fly."

She was slow in joining him and he cried, "Have you a lover? Have you taken up with a stripling of 19?"

"What a queer fellow," she laughed.

"I no longer love you," he cried. "I hate you. You are hateful, stupid, inept."

He had a mania for being on the winning side. He could not bear to lose, even at games. When his friends played chess with him, they tried hard to lose. They even sent out for players who were less skilled than he. When they could not find them, it was necessary to lose the game foolishly, rather than defeat him.

One day a preacher's son tried to kill him. The plot miscarried, and the boy was dragged into his presence. They searched him and found a knife and the portrait of a pretty girl. The portrait fascinated him.

"You wanted to kill me?"

"Yes, I intended to kill you." Whose portrait is this?

"The girl I love." A pause.

"IF I LET YOU go . . . I suppose it would gladden the heart of this girl."

"Then I shall be able to kill you after all."

He looked at the young man sadly. The face in the portrait could have won so easily, with a little help. He nodded to his henchmen, and left the room.

His whole life was a preposterous tragedy. He had wanted to be a great man. But he couldn't tell the truth. His friends were so partisan and his enemies so prejudiced that nothing they said could be believed either.

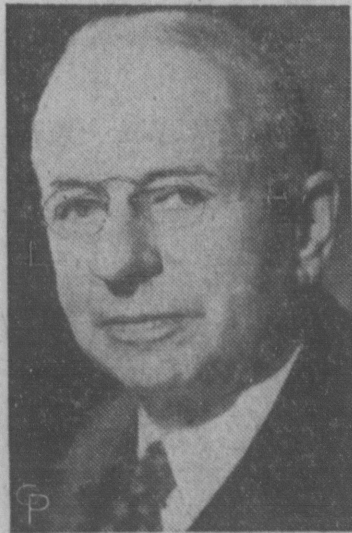

The church excommunicated him. His tantrums were so great that he summoned people to the bath room, where he was bathing, and splashed them with hot water.

Every word I have said about this extraordinary little man is preserved in his letters and papers, and can be read by anybody.

So unusual a man deserved an unusual name. It would have been an irony for him to be called Smith or Jones.

But he was spared that commonplace. His name was very unusual. It was Napoleon Bonaparte.

Michigan Fraternities Fight Discrimination

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Fraternities and sororities at the University of Michigan have begun an all-out drive to abolish discrimination in their national constitutions.

The inter-fraternity council and the Pan-Hellenic council formed a ten-member investigating group to decide the best way to combat racial and religious discrimination in charters of their members.

The investigating committee plans to present a "concrete plan of action on a national level before the end of the semester."

Antarctic Expedition Carries Its Own Sun

PITTSBURGH — Tubular lamps that emit ultra-violet radiations found in natural sunlight are being carried for the first time on an expedition to Antarctica.

Two powerful, ultra-modern 20-watt fluorescent lamps developed by Western Electric Corp. were carried by a French expedition, which sailed from Australia to confirm territorial claims in the polar land. The lamps, only two feet long, will insure members of the expedition of the vitamin and other physical benefits of sunshine during the long polar winter.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARIOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here's an ABC on the senate filibuster fight which gets up a head of steam this week.

Several things are involved: The fate of President Truman's civil rights program; the ability, or failure, of southern Democrats to block it; and the right, or ability, of a minority to block the will of a majority.

A filibuster—unlimited speech-making—happens only in the senate, never in the house. There's a house rule limiting debate. Not in the senate.

And there are two kinds of filibusters: By an individual senator, or a group of senators filibustering in relays. Example:

An individual is against a bill the rest of the senate wants to pass. He knows he can't talk more than 15 or 20 hours straight without dropping from exhaustion.

AND WHEN THAT happens, he knows, the patient senate will then pass the bill. Still, wanting to register his protest, he filibusters. This one man stand means nothing.

It's the relay kind that counts: When a group of senators, say 25, wants to prevent the rest of the 96 senators from voting on something like the President's civil rights program.

This majority, talking in relays, can go on for weeks or months while all other senate business stops and piles up.

If this goes on long enough, the senate may have to cast aside, for lack of time, some of the other important bills it hoped to pass.

A filibuster can be stopped, though, in two ways:

1—By letting the minority win. This is when the majority finally agrees to drop the bill that caused the filibuster. When that occurs, the particular bill is dead for the rest of the session.

2—By beating the minority and breaking the filibuster. This happens when two-thirds of the senators vote to shut off the filibuster by limiting debate. But—

That seldom happens. A two-thirds vote of the senate to halt a filibuster is hard to get. Senators, as a group, prize their freedom to talk without limit.

THE ARGUMENT: "Some day I may be opposed to something and want to filibuster. If I shut off somebody's filibuster now, mine may be shut off some other time."

The southern Democratic senators, although members of Truman's own party, long ago announced they'd filibuster to prevent Truman's civil rights program from passing.

Truman intended this program to be of particular benefit to Negroes. Truman and his aides decided to have a showdown on whether the program could get through the senate.

The senate now has reached the showdown stage: Whether enough senators will vote to shut off a southern filibuster. (The big issue is a proposed rules change which would permit a two-thirds vote to shut off debate on a motion. Such a vote now can stop debate on an actual bill. The business before the senate now is a motion to take up the proposed rules change.)

In passing an ordinary bill, only a majority senate vote is needed.

Bed sheets usually wear out first in the middle. That's because they get the most wear there and because tensile strength usually is greater on the outside edges. So when your sheets show signs of center wear, split them down the middle and sew them together again along the former outside edges. Finish off the new outside edges with a simple hem.

Activities of County Health Office Shown

LISBON, March 10—The annual report of the county health department reveals that in addition to tuberculosis control and control of communicable diseases, the department also conducted immunization of 1,711 persons through smallpox vaccinations; 991 immunized against diphtheria; 74 against typhoid fever; 707 were tuberculin tested; 446 whooping cough vaccinations, and 2,463 Schick tested.

The department also listed maternity service in 13 cases; infant hygiene, 59 cases; preschool hygiene, morbidity service and service to crippled children, and sanitation inspections.

Deaths exceeded births in the county health district during the year, with 386 deaths recorded, and 311 births reported.

ASSISTANT FIRED FOR DUAL ACTION

CLEVELAND, March 10—(UP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy Tuesday ousted Samuel Katz as special assistant attorney general here after Katz appeared before the state liquor board to plead a client guilty.

An hour after he appeared before the board, Katz received a call from Duffy in Columbus and was notified that he was no longer a member of the attorney general's staff.

Katz had appeared before the board with David D. Meyer, and Duffy said that Katz had acted in a dual capacity as a private attorney while being a state official and that it made no difference that he did not defend Meyer but pleaded him guilty.

MARION FAREWELL TO FIRE TRUCK IS CIVIC EVENT

MARION, Mar. 10—(AP)—Sirens screamed, whistles blew, the City of Marion shed its official tears.

It was bidding farewell to its 33-year-old hook and ladder fire truck. At high noon the proud old jalopy chugged through the downtown streets. New, modern fire trucks roared alongside as honorary escorts.

The 1916 vintage aerial truck was being turned over to the Ohio State museum.

The six-cylinder relic was freshly washed and shined for its "last call." It had served the city well.

Many persons hated to see Marion part with its tangible past. Some thought of the times the sturdy little truck had answered their call for help.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler of Marion, Safety Director E. O. Uncapher and Fire Chief Owen G. Sifritt paid tribute to the aged piece of fire fighting apparatus.

City Firemen Paul E. Sifritt and Charles J. McDonough were to drive the hook and ladder truck to the Franklin county line north of Columbus. A delegation from the Ohio museum and Columbus officials were to meet it there.

Some of Marion's more cynical citizens cast a dubious eye at the truck. Sifritt and McDonough were offended.

"She'll make it all right," they protested.

At the Franklin county line, Erwin C. Zepp, museum director, Columbus Mayor James A. Rhodes and Columbus Deputy Fire Chief Samuel H. Zayner will receive the gift for the museum.

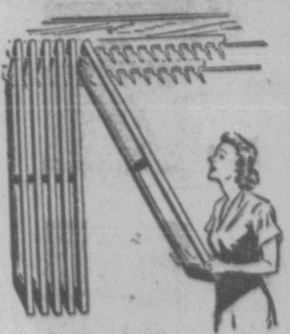

The truck will be escorted through Columbus to the museum on the State university campus by a hook and ladder truck from the Columbus department.

After a brief stay at the museum, it will be taken to a city garage. Zepp said the 45-foot vehicle can't be housed in the museum now. A place will be provided later, Zepp said.

Mean Thief Puts Dampers On Children's Pleasure

PADUCAH, Ky.—Paducah residents are wondering what a "mean" thief did with his loot.

Mrs. Jake Childers had saved Christmas cards for the last five years. She decided to put them to some good use.

She packed them carefully in a cardboard box which had held a man's suit, put them in her car, and intended to take them to the day nursery so the children might play with them.

But on the way she stopped at the drug store. When Mrs. Childers returned to the car, she found that someone, probably thinking the box contained a suit, had stolen it.

Suggested Raise For Post Cards Brings Outcries

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10—(AP)—Congressional friends of the penny post card hollered bloody murder today at plans to make it up to two cents.

Plans are those of the postoffice department, which is going into the red at the rate of half a million dollars this year.

"Diabolical," declared Rep. Edwin A. Hall (R-NY) today. "Asinine. Impossible."

"Raising the penny post card to two cents is the best way I know of making the poor man shoulder the postoffice deficit. It's an American institution. It must not be abolished."

Each government postal card, he said, cost the postoffice department 2.59 cents to print and handle—a tidy loss, he implied.

By upping the price to two cents, he said he thought his department would get an added $30,000,000 toward that half billion deficit.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS HAS GOOD BOOKS, BUT GETTING INTO FILES ISN'T SIMPLE

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Mar. 10—(UP)—The so-called "Delta Collection" at the Library of Congress contains such volumes as "A Pig's Ear" and "Sex in Prison."

Members of the cabinet and the law-givers can give a look if they present credentials. But it's pretty hard for the rest of us to see these books.

Nobody seems to know why it is called the "Delta Collection"—that bunch of books locked in a tiny corner of the biggest library in the world. Most of the books are not rare. But many of them are interesting tidbits about sex and the like which could be easily tucked under the coat and carted off. The Library of Congress loses a lot of books that way. It likes to keep on file a copy of everything printed.

For instance, that book called "A Pig's Ear." The library people think it was the title more than the inside that prompted folks to steal it. It is not a book you would pull out from beneath the bar while the girls were in the powder room.

"Sex in Prison" is something else again. Scientific.

Not Easy to Get In
Miss Paustine Dennis, pleasant little white-haired lady who has charge of the "Delta Collection," made it clear it is not easy to get into that section of the library.

First you have to be grown up.

"We used to have a lot of trouble with kids coming up here to get translations of Caesar and Virgil—so they could get an 'A' in Latin," she said. So the translations went into the locked collection.

In addition to being grown up, to see these books, you have to prove that what you are going to look at is important for research.

Once you get by all the guards and satisfy Miss Dennis, she takes a key, gets you the book you want and watches you until you hand it back to her. No take-outs with special permission, which is hard to get.

One time the library had a lot of trouble with the small fry tearing out pages of Esquire. The lovely lady pictures.

Also, the library couldn't seem to keep books on how to beat the horse.

"Not that any of the customers ever won anything on the horses," Miss Dennis said.

But the volumes that caused the most trouble in the library before things were put under lock and key were the jig-saw puzzle murders which came out during the era of wonderful nonsense. Those books came in two volumes. You wondered right through the last chapter of Volume I whether it was the butler or the upstairs maid. Then, to solve the mystery, you had to take the second "volume" which was a jig-saw puzzle.

"You can imagine," Miss Dennis said, "the trouble we had when people found pieces of the puzzle missing."

NOTE DECLINING MORTALITY AMONG AMERICAN MOTHERS

CINCINNATI, Mar. 10—A steady decline in the last 13 years in the mortality rate of mothers in childbirth was reported today to the American Academy of General Practice.

Dr. Edward Davis, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Chicago, told 2,000 family doctors that in 1935 the mortality rate of young mothers was 58.2 for every 10,000. By 1948 that figure had been reduced to 20.7, he said and he added that unofficial figures for 1947 and 1948 show a continuation of the downward trend.

"The saving of lives can be better visualized in the total of figures," he said. "In 1935, 12,544 women did not survive their pregnancies while in 1948 the figure was reduced to 5,668 in spite of the 25 per cent increase in total births."

Hemorrhage still accounts for a large number of such deaths, Dr. Davis said, but he declared "in well-conducted hospitals, few women lose their lives because of this complication."

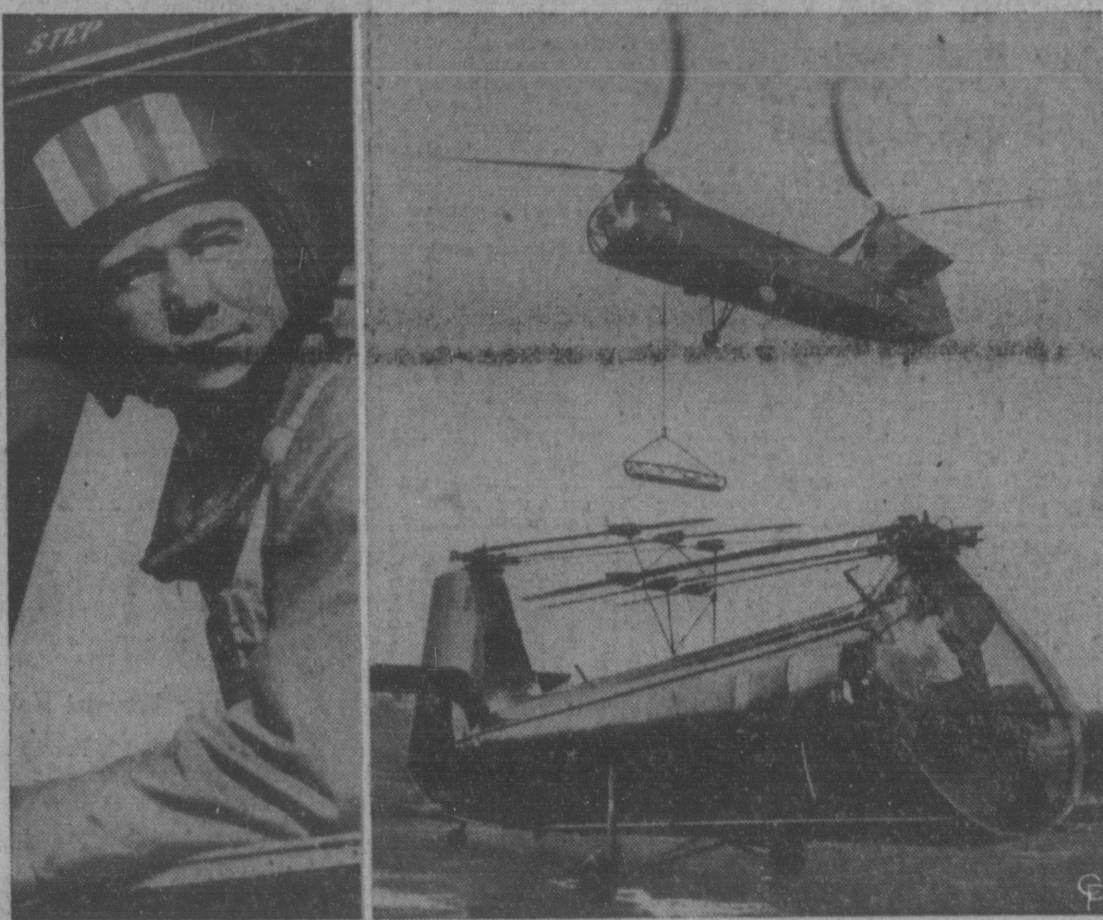

The family doctors continued to devote a big portion of their sessions to cancer and its treatment.

Dr. Norman F. Miller, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Michigan, declared that cancer of the cervix could be eliminated if women would undergo pelvic examinations at regular six-month intervals.

He asserted cervix cancers do not cause symptoms during the pre-invasive stage and added:

"Physicians and the women of

SALT LAKE CITY—What appeared to be an epidemic of philandering by cab drivers has been cleared up.

Husbands had been coming home with tell-tale lipstick traces. Wives were complaining.

Cabbies, themselves mystified, set out to rescue their reputations. Here's what they found:

Some practical joker had smeared lipstick over the emporium of the main cab phone on a downtown street corner.

American Women Soft? SYDNEY, Australia—American women "don't know they're alive."

Dr. Muriel McIlrath said on return from a tour to Europe and the United States.

Dr. McIlrath, a gynecologist, said American women were being "ruined" by labor-saving devices, and cited dish-washing machines, garbage-disposal sinks and other gadgets.

"The Americans have everything," she said. "Some of their devices made me green with envy—but they don't know they're alive. They haven't enough to do."

Questions and Answers

Q—Under what flag did the Mayflower set sail for America in 1620?
A—The Union Jack, known also as the King's Colors, flew from the mainmast of the Mayflower which brought the Pilgrims to Plymouth in 1620, while the Cross of St. George was displayed from the foremast.

Q—What is the normal temperature of a cold-blooded animal?
A—The temperature of the blood of cold-blooded animals, such as fish and reptiles, remains practically the same as that of the surrounding environment. For this reason, they do not require as much food as we do, and can often go long periods with nothing to eat whatever.

Q—How many times has the office of vice president been vacant?
A—The office has been vacant 15 times, since no provision was made in the Constitution for filling a vacancy in the vice presidency. The first was due to the death of Vice President Clinton in President Madison's first administration; the last when President Roosevelt died and Truman succeeded.

Q—Were fire throwers ever used before the first World war?
A—Yes—incendiary arrows and Greek fire were used as early as 500 B. C.

Q—Who wrote the prayer, "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep?"
A—Popular quotation books do not ascribe this prayer to any author, merely stating that version of it was included in the New England Primer.

The Calder trophy, awarded annually to the outstanding National Hockey league rookie, never has been won by a defenseman.
